The Class Not Taken

By: Ralph De Masi

Two classes diverged in a gray hallway
And sorry I could not take both
And be one student. Long I pondered
And I looked into one as long as I could
'Til the teacher gave me a quizzical look.

Then peered across the hall, where the teacher glanced back with a grin,
And having perhaps the better claim
Because the class was challenging and wanted use;
Though as for that, the classes required equal wits
And could wear me, really, about the same.

And both had homework about the same
In books no eyes had fallen upon.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how class leads on to class,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages from now;
Two classes diverged in a hallway, and I,
I took the one less attended by,
And that has made all the difference!

School

By: Tia Heney

I remember the many moments,
We couldn't wait for this year.
The vivid tears, the ecstatic laughter,
The going to college fair.

It is all going by so quickly,
So don't blink your eyes.
Soon we'll be in cap and gowns,
Boys in green, girls in white.

So cheers to the future
Kiss the drama goodbye,
This isn't the end,
It's the start of our lives.

School

By: Molly DeQuinzio

We go to school years one through twelve
Every year is like another book on the shelves

It's a place where most dread Monday morning
The weekends fly by without any warning

Many things are taught but not always learned
Report cards will entail what you have earned

We wait, wishing it would be over
If only we had a four leaf clover

Graduation day is what we've been waiting for
We won't be going to high school anymore

Many of our memories were made in school
You can't help but laugh, we were such fools

The day will come when we miss this place
But we have to live our lives with dignity and grace

Looking back we'll think that it wasn't so bad
Perhaps the best memories we've ever had

More Than Just a Game

By: Pat Zadrozny

Play of the game, the ball went high.
It's a good ball. Will they receive?
Was the ball behind the line?

Green Wave said the game was mine.
Victory is what we are here to achieve.
Play of the game, the ball went high.

Cost us six points, the call was not fine.
Booed like a criminal the ref should leave
Was the ball over the line?

Wrong ref made the call, the mistake was denied
What just happened, I cannot perceive?
Play of the game, the ball went high.

Down and out team looking for a sign.
Green Wave nation, we still believe.
Was the ball behind the line?

*Coaches in shock standing on the sideline.
Prediction of State Champs is now a lie.
Play of the game, the ball went high.
The ball was behind the line.*

High school life and adolescence
Will soon be coming to an end
On this road of life,
This is just another bend.

On June 2, 2012,
We enter the real world
As an adult, a high school graduate.
And the change takes us for a whirl.

This is the one,
The only, senior year.
These are the times,
That we need to hold dear.

Once we leave,
They are gone for good.
Leaves everyone,
Not in the best mood.

We leave behind memories,
Legacy, a piece of us,
Everywhere, from classes,
Halls, to the yellow bus.
When we leave,
Be sure to keep in mind,
The resonating footsteps
Of those we left behind.

Years of Sailing
By: Julianne Johnson

High school is as complex as the ocean.
Sometimes it's calm, cool, and collected,
Other times it's defiant, dark, and difficult.

High school is a place where students are your shipmates,
And mutiny is on everyone's mind.

Where some act like anchors, holding you back during a storm,
But others will take the wheel, guide you towards calm waters.

Few may jump ship, the journey being too much to handle,
But most will stick through it, patiently waiting for their destination.

We come aboard, not only to learn the ropes,
But to gain relationships that last a life time,
Because high school is as complex as the ocean.

School
By: Sarah Dano

School is for learning, this we all know;
Studying, testing, and helping us grow.

But we will also meet others impacting what we do,
Teachers and friends who care what we go through.

These are the ones we will remember for years,
Leaving them in June will bring us to tears.

Four years at the high school, gone in a flash,
Wish I could stay, but I gotta dash!

Throughout the Years
By: Ashley Patterson

Elementary school marks a brand new day.
Little boys and girls learning to play.
Jump, jog and jam,
When we play in the gym.
We think we're so cool,
As we wait for middle school.

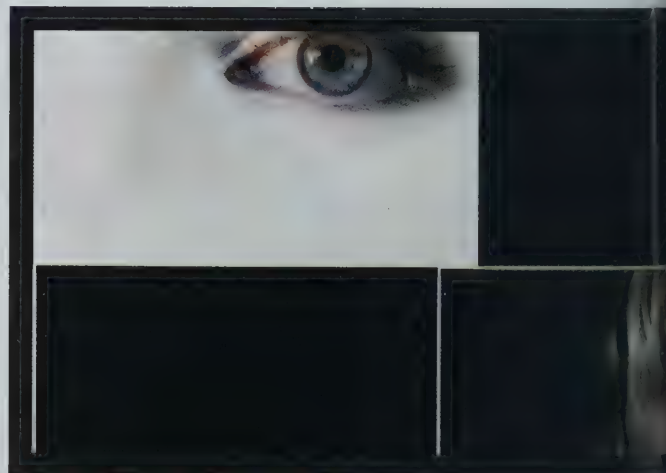

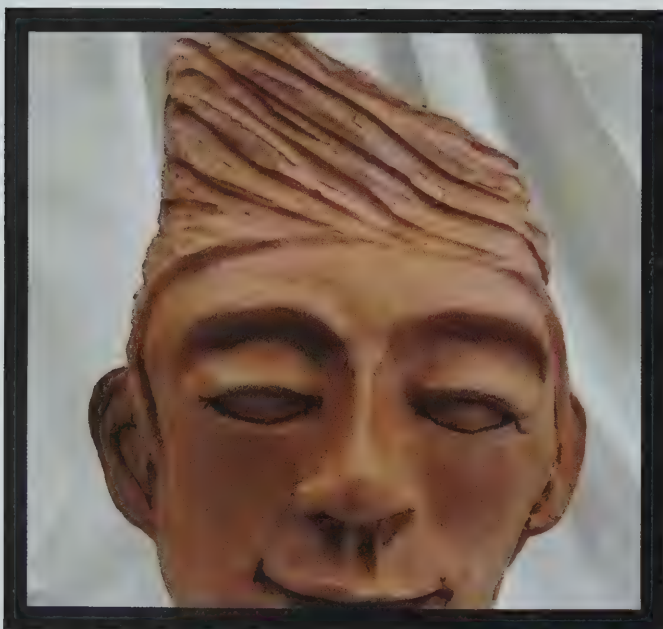

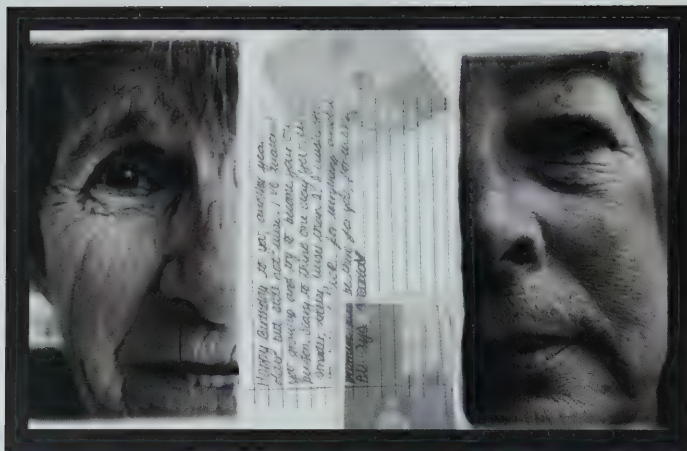

Middle school is Hell,
It makes us dwell in our shells.
Always feeling awkward,
But we have to push forward.
Don't act like a fool,
Let's move on to high school.

"Let's change today."
We say to ourselves.
We pull our new clothes,
Off of the shelf.
They smell of the store,
Where we shopped all day.
Not it's time to start high school,
We are on our way!

Graduation is here,
We have no fear.
We're excited to leave
All of this behind.
Like a little girl who pricked her finger,
Trying not to cry.

We walk up the aisle,
To grab our diplomas.
We can't believe it's almost over.
Now we take one final look at ourselves,
Congratulations to the class of 2012.

HIKERS RELEASED

After more than 2 years, Iran released two American hikers who were charged with illegal entry into the country and spying.

SCIENCE & DISCOVERIES

TURNING A NEW LEAF

A team of MIT researchers developed an "artificial leaf" that could be used to soak up the sun's energy and store for later use. Leaves absorb, convert and store solar energy and this new man-made silicon leaf mimics those abilities. Given that the sun is our most renewable resource, scientists look to maximize it with new technologies like this.

LASER RAIN

A new method to create rain was researched by European scientists. By using lasers in the atmosphere, they were able to change moisture levels and create small water droplets. Although the drops weren't big enough to reach the ground, they may help promote natural rainfall.

YOUNG SCIENTISTS

Thirty middle school students gathered in Washington D.C. to showcase their scientific talent at the Broadcom MASTERS™ (Math, Applied Science, Technology, and Engineering for Rising Stars), a program of Society for Science & the Public. The finalists faced off in team challenges and shared individual research projects. First prize went to California's Daniel Feeny, 14, who proved that the force of waves doesn't affect the variety of plants and animals that live close to shore.

CREEPY CRAWLIES

The world's largest insect, a Giant Weta, was discovered in New Zealand, but has been around for a very long time and predated the dinosaurs. This particular insect weighed in at 2.5 ounces and measured over 7 inches in length, making it the biggest insect on record.

LIKE A DREAM

A study suggested that dreams can act as therapy for life's emotional events. When shown emotion-provoking pictures before sleep, the part of the brain that handles emotion "powered down" during the REM sleep stage. Also, individuals said they felt less emotionally charged when they awoke, which led researchers to believe they gained relief from their recent, painful memories.

AIR SURFING

The MagSurf brings dreams of levitation to life. University Paris Diderot researchers built a skateboard-like platform that can float above a magnetic track with a person standing on it. The superconducting matter inside the skateboard is cooled by liquid nitrogen, which allows the board to hover above the magnetic track.

NICE ROCK

A new planet made of diamond crystals was discovered by a team of astronomers. The planet, which is 60,000 km in diameter, is 5 times larger than Earth and is part of the Milky Way.

In 1986, Albert Einstein was the first to claim that nothing traveled faster than the speed of light.

THE FAST NEUTRINO

For over a century, it was believed that nothing traveled faster than the speed of light. That all may have changed when scientists clocked a tiny particle called a neutrino traveling faster. The difference in speed was so slight that some scientists remained skeptical and continue to retest for accuracy.

POPULATION BOOM

The world's population reached 7 billion in 2011, growing at a faster rate than ever, due in part to longer lifespans.

NOBEL PRIZE WINNERS

Scientific advances were made in physics, chemistry and medicine. Topics such as the expansion of the universe, the structure of crystals and how the body's immune system fights infection earned scientists distinguished Nobel prizes this year.
